

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

Google's mission is to organize the world's information and to make it universally accessible and useful. Google Book Search helps readers discover the world's books while helping authors and publishers reach new audiences. * These persons have absconded; their sureties have been sued for the payment thereof, but have proved insolvent.

† Thomas Ogle, the Defendant, was liberated from Lancaster Castle, under a Treasury Warrant; reserving the Crown's right to all his property. Several sums arising from Debts, and other property, and on the completion of the sale of his real Estate, have been paid into Court, as stated in the annexed account, and it is not likely that any other sums will be recovered in liquidation of this claim.

THE Sums which the Receivers General of England and Wales are allowed to retain out of the Monies received by them for the purpose of meeting demands made on them between the periods of their Receipts, do not exceed £. 500, except in the case of Mr. Milnes, Receiver General for part of the County of York, who is allowed to retain the Sum of £. 1,200, at the end of each half yearly General Receipt, that amount being indispensable for meeting the large demands on him between the General Receipts.

The excess of Balance which appears in some cases is either in a course of remittance under the Receiver General's Contracts, or consists of Sums received on Arrears which under those contracts will remain in their hands until, by further Sums received, they amount to £. 500.

The Receiver General of Scotland retains only such a small Balance in his hands as the Barons of Exchequer at Edinburgh think necessary for paying the contingent expenses of the department, and the stipends of the Scotch Clergy, charged by the Act 50 Geo. 3, c. 84, upon the Taxes received by him.

A. A certain Balance must of necessity appear to be on the face of the Accounts Current in the hands of each Deputy (in number 550) at the expiration of each Quarter, which Balances, by the operation of the Remittances by Instalments, will be nearly discharged in five days after the Quarter closes.

B. The Balances from the West India Deputies, (17 in number,) and from the Deputy Postmaster-general of Canada and Nova Scotia, are in regular course of payment. Bills to the amount of 4,295*l.* 5*s.* 9*d.* have been received since Quarter-day.

C. Balances in course of liquidation.

D. This Sum includes the Balances in the hands of 41 Deputies in the interior of Jamaica.

E. The Penalty of the Bond due from the Sureties of the late Mr. Barbauld has been remitted, by order of the Lords of His Majesty's Treasury.

F. An Extent has been issued to recover the Penalty of the Bond, and Proceedings have not yet terminated.

G. The reasons which apply to Letter A. are strictly applicable to these Balances, which are in the hands of 276 persons.

H. Old Balances in the course of payment, and some under prosecution.

I. This Balance has been since remitted.

K. This Balance is invariably remitted before the expiration of the current Quarter.

L. This Balance consists chiefly of advances to Letter Carriers for Wages, and Copper Coin in hand.

M. This Balance was paid into the Bank of England the following day.

Representatives of Sir James Duff, Bart. deceased, His Majesty's Consul at Cadiz, on account of various money transactions for the Public Service, from 1st January to 31st March 1815 - - - -	97,342 15 1 $\frac{1}{2}$	84,614 12 -	This Account was declared on the 1st of August 1822, with a balance indebted of £. 78,025. 13. 10 $\frac{1}{2}$. for principal, and £. 19,317. 1. 2 $\frac{1}{2}$. for interest, amounting together to £. 97,342. 15. 1 $\frac{1}{2}$.; but it being subsequently discovered, on the examination of the Accounts of Mr. Peter Tupper Carey, His Majesty's Consul at Valencia, that the Accountant was entitled to a considerable credit, which had been omitted to be claimed in the Account as made up by his personal representative, the facts relative to this omission were stated to the Lords of the Treasury by a representation of the Commissioners of Audit, dated 21st June 1825; in consequence of which a warrant under the Royal Sign Manual was granted, bearing date 16th July 1825, by virtue of which the Accountant's estate was relieved from payment of £. 11,228. 3. 1 $\frac{1}{2}$. (the amount of principal and interest due in respect of the credit to which he was entitled), in diminution of the balance appearing to be due on the declared Account).

James Green, Esq. Deputy Commissary General in Canada, from 25th December 1809 to 24th August 1810 - - -	£. s. d. 908 3 4 ½	£. s. d. Even and Quit.	It appearing to the Lords of the Treasury, by a representation of the Commissioners of Audit, dated 27th October 1823, that the sum of £.523. 0. 5. forming part of the balance of this Account, had been paid by Mr. Green to a Sub-Accountant, and that the remainder of the balance had also been paid by him into the military chest at Quebec, subsequently to the declaration of the account, a warrant was granted under the Royal Sign Manual, dated 1st October 1825, for relieving the Accountant from the payment of his said balance, and also for relieving him, in consideration of his age and long services, from the charge of interest thereon.
Theodore Edward Hook, Esq. Treasurer of the island of Mauritius, between 9th Oc- tober 1813 and 28th February 1818 -	12,885 14 6	12,885 14 6	This Account was declared on the 5th December 1821, and a writ of extent having been issued against the Accountant's person and estate, he was, some time afterwards, arrested, and an inquisition was taken of his property; but, with the exception of some small articles, no effects were discovered: the Accountant having obtained a writ of habeas corpus, was removed to the King's Bench prison. In consequence of an application from the Accountant to the Lords of the Treasury, dated 3d July 1824, accompanied by a statement of his transactions, and praying relief against the consequences of the extent, their Lordships caused him to be informed by a Treasury letter, dated 2d April 1825, that they had again had under their consideration the whole subject of his deficiency, and after a very careful reference to all the documents connected with the examination of his accounts, were of opinion that he had failed to establish any ground for relief from any part of the balance due from him on his declared account, and that they must consequently continue to hold him responsible for the same; but their Lordships at the same time informed him, that having reason to believe that he had surrendered all his property towards the discharge of that debt, and that his protracted confinement would not conduce to the diminution of it, they would give directions to the Commissioners of Audit for taking off the extent against his person, whereby he would be set at liberty, although not exonerated from liability to payment of the debt, if he should subsequently have the means of discharging it. A Treasury letter, containing directions to this effect, having been addressed to the Commissioners of Audit, dated 2d April 1825, a case was submitted for the opinion of the Attorney General on the question, Whether the discharge of a Crown debtor, in custody under an extent by a writ of supersedeas (which is the usual course of proceeding in such cases), would operate as a release from the debt? and the Attorney General being of opinion that it would not operate as such release, the Accountant, in pursuance of the directions contained in the Treasury letter of 2d April 1825 last mentioned, was, on or about the 10th of June 1825, released from the effects of the writ of extent issued against his person.
Colonel John Montresor, deceased, late Chief Engineer in North America, from 1st October 1768 to 30th September 1778:	Balance of principal - £.48,306 5 1 ½ Interest from 20th June 1800 to 16th July 1823 - } 55,724 4 9	104,030 9 10 ½	Colonel Montresor's Account was declared on 25th July 1798, with a balance indebted of £.48,306. 5. 1 ½; upon which sum, according to the provisions of 39 & 40 Geo. 3. c. 54, interest afterwards became due from 20th June 1800, the day of passing the Act. An extent having been issued against the Accountant for recovery of this debt, several real estates and other property belonging to him were long since sold, and the proceeds thereof paid into the Court of Exchequer, and invested in the public funds for the benefit of the parties who should appear ultimately to be entitled thereto, with reference to certain questions which

Colonel J. Montresor deceased—continued.			which had arisen on the subject of articles of surcharge in the Account, and also of the proceedings under the extent. Various memorials were addressed to the Lords of the Treasury by the Representatives of the Accountant, praying relief in respect of those articles, and that certain allowances might be made to them on the final settlement of the Account. Upon full consideration of these memorials, their Lordships determined that the Memorialists were reasonably entitled to certain of the said allowances; and they thereupon directed the Commissioners of Audit to ascertain the correct amount (with reference to those allowances) of the balance due upon the declared Account up to the 16th July 1823, at which time a payment of £. 80,000 was made out of the funds in Court into the receipt of the Exchequer. In pursuance of these directions the Commissioners made their report, dated 3d August 1823, and transmitted therewith a detailed statement, specifying the amount of the principal and interest due, as also of the payments into the Exchequer, and of the allowances directed to be made; according to which statement there was a balance then remaining due from the Accountant's estate, amounting to £. 5,476. 2. 0. In consequence of this report a warrant was granted under the Royal Sign Manual, dated 19th February 1825, for discharging the Representatives of the Accountant, upon payment of the further sum of £. 5,476. (which was duly paid into the receipt of the Exchequer on the 1st February 1825), from all further responsibility in respect of the above Account.

								A Bill having been filed in the Court of Exchequer against the Attorney General by Mr. Davison, in respect of the surcharges which constitute the above Balance, the matters at issue were referred to the Commissioners of Audit, by an order of the Court, of the 19th May 1824, and their award under the above reference, by which a reduced balance of 7,148 l. 18 s. 1½ d. was found to be due from Mr. Davison, was made an order of the Court of Exchequer, on the 25th day of February 1826.

								The difference between the Declared Balance of 97,342 l. 15 s. 1½ d. and the Balance of 86,114 l. 12 s. remaining unpaid, arises from the circumstance of the Accountant's estate having been relieved from the sum of 11,228 l. 3 s. 1½ d. part of the Declared Balance, by a war- rant under the Royal Sign Manual, dated 18th July 1825. It is also neces- sary to observe, that the sum of 1,500 l. paid into the Exchequer, part pro- ceeds of the estate of Sir William Duff Gordon, executor to the Accountant, has been taken in reduction of interest that had accrued on the principal sum due, and has not therefore been deducted from the amount of the Declared Balance.

dated 23d March 1836 ;—for

AN ACCOUNT

OF THE
BALANCES of all Money remaining in the Exchequer on 5th January in each Year since 5th January 1816.

Ordered, by The House of Commons, to be Printed, 25 April 1836.

UNFUNDED DEBT.

AN ACCOUNT of the UNFUNDED DEBT Outstanding and Unprovided for on the 5th January 1819, and 5th January 1826; adding thereto the DEFICIENCY BILLS to be issued to the Bank, to be repaid in the subsequent Quarter, together with the Charge of Interest for the same.

BY the INTEREST of any LOAN that hath been made, or ANNUITIES created, subsequent to the passing of an Act 27 GEO. III. c. 13; as required by the 72^d Section of the said Act;—and also, The ESTIMATE of the PRODUCE of the several DUTIES for defraying the Charges incurred in respect of the same, in the Year ended the 5th day of January 1826.

Ordered, by The House of Commons, to be Printed, 28 February 1826.

AN ACCOUNT OF ALL ADDITIONS which have been made to the ANNUAL made, or ANNUITIES created, subsequent to the passing of an Act 27 GEO. III. c. 13; PRODUCE of the several DUTIES granted for defraying the Charges incurred in

BY VIRTUE of an Act 56 Geo. 3. c. 96, the Bank of England is authorized and empowered to advance and lend to His Majesty £. 3,000,000 sterling; the repayment of which, together with Interest at the rate of £. 3 per centum per annum, payable annually, is to be made at such period as Parliament shall direct and appoint, not beyond the 1st day of August 1833, and to be charged and chargeable upon the Consolidated Fund, unless otherwise provided for by Parliament.

The Addition to the Public Debt thereby is	-	-	-	-	£. 3,000,000
And the Annual Charge in respect of the Interest on the above Advance, is	-				£. 90,000 - -
By the Surplus of this Fund in the year ended 5th January 1826	-	-	-	-	902,774 1 6
				£.	992,774 1 6

BY VIRTUE of the Act 58 Geo. 3. c. 23. the Sum of £. 3,000,000 was authorized to be raised, and the Subscribers thereto, upon the transfer of £. 100, £. 3 per cent Consolidated or Reduced Annuities, to the Commissioners for the Reduction of the National Debt, became entitled to £. 88 in Annuities, to be created at the rate of £. 3. 10s. per cent per annum; and upon payment of £. 11 in money into the Bank of England, became entitled to the further Sum of £. 12 in these Annuities, whereby the following Capitals were created; viz.

On £. 16,945,000, £. 3 per cent Consolidated Annuities, at £. 88 in Annuities at the rate of £. 3. 10s. per cent per annum, for every £. 100 so transferred	14,911,600	-	-

BANK OF ENGLAND.

RETURN to an Order of The Honourable House of Commons,
dated the 3d February 1826;—for

COPIES OF COMMUNICATIONS

Between the First Lord of the Treasury and the Chancellor of the Exchequer, and the Governor and Deputy Governor of the Bank of England; relating to an Alteration in the exclusive Privileges enjoyed by the Bank of England.

Whitehall, Treasury Chambers,
6th February 1826. }

J. C. HERRIES.

Ordered, by The House of Commons, to be Printed, 6 February 1826.

N^o 1.

GENTLEMEN,

Fife House, 13th January 1826.

WE have the honour of transmitting to you herewith a Paper, containing our views upon the present state of the Banking System of this Country, with our suggestions thereupon; which we request you will lay before the Court of Directors of the Bank of England, for their consideration.

We have the honour to be,
Gentlemen,
Your obedient humble Servants,

(signed) LIVERPOOL.
FREDERICK JOHN ROBINSON.

The Governor and Deputy Governor of the Bank of England.

THE Panic in the Money Market having subsided, and the pecuniary transactions of the Country having reverted to their accustomed course, it becomes important to lose no time in considering whether any measures can be adopted to prevent the recurrence in future of such evils as we have recently experienced.

However much the recent distress may have been aggravated, in the judgment of some, by incidental circumstances and particular measures, there can be no doubt that the principal source of it is to be found in the rash spirit of Speculation, which has pervaded the Country for some time, supported, fostered, and encouraged by the Country Banks.

The remedy, therefore, for this evil, in future, must be found in an improvement in the Circulation of Country Paper; and the first measure which has suggested itself to most of those who have considered the subject, is a recurrence to a Gold circulation throughout the Country, as well as in the Metropolis and its neighbourhood, by a repeal of the Act which permits Country Banks to issue One and Two Pound Notes until the year 1833; and by the immediate enactment of a prohibition of any such issues, at the expiration of two or three years from the present period.

It appears to us to be quite clear that such a measure would be productive of much good ; that it would operate as some check upon the spirit of speculation, and upon the issues of Country Banks ; and whilst, on the one hand, it would diminish the pressure upon the Bank and the Metropolis, incident to an unfavourable state of the Exchanges, by spreading it over a wider surface ; on the other hand, it would cause such pressure to be earlier felt, and thereby insure an earlier and more general adoption of the precautionary measures necessary for counteracting the inconveniences incident to an export of the precious Metals. But though a recurrence to a Gold circulation in the Country, for the reasons already stated, might be productive of some good, it would by no means go to the root of the evil.

We have abundant proof of the truth of this position, in the events which took place in the spring of 1793, when a convulsion occurred in the money transactions and circulation of the Country, more extensive than that which we have recently experienced. At that period, nearly a hundred Country banks were obliged to stop payment, and Parliament was induced to grant an issue of exchequer bills to relieve the distress. Yet, in the year 1793, there were no One or Two Pound notes in circulation in England, either by Country banks or by the Bank of England.

We have a further proof of the truth of what has been advanced, in the experience of Scotland, which has escaped all the convulsions which have occurred in the money market of England for the last thirty-five years, though Scotland, during the whole of that time, has had a circulation of One Pound notes ; and the small pecuniary transactions of that part of the United Kingdom, have been carried on exclusively by the means of such notes.

The issue of small notes, though it be an aggravation, cannot therefore be the sole, or even the main cause of the evil in England.

The failures which have occurred in England, unaccompanied as they have been by the same occurrences in Scotland, tend to prove, that there must have been an unsolid and delusive system of Banking in one part of Great Britain, and a solid and substantial one in the other.

It would be entirely at variance with our deliberate opinion, not to do full justice to the Bank of England, as the great centre of circulation and commercial credit.

We believe that much of the prosperity of the Country for the last century, is to be ascribed to the general wisdom, justice, and fairness of the dealings of the Bank ; and we further think, that during a great part of that time, it may have been, in itself and by itself, fully equal to all the important duties and operations confided to it. But the progress of the Country during the last thirty or forty years, in every branch of industry, in agriculture, manufactures, commerce and navigation, has been so rapid and extensive, as to make it no reflection upon the Bank of England to say, that the instrument, which, by itself, was fully adequate to former transactions, is no longer sufficient without new aids, to meet the demands of the present times.

We have, to a considerable degree, the proof of this position, in the very establishment of so many Country banks.

Within the memory of many living, and even of some of those now engaged in public affairs, there were no Country banks, except in a few of the great commercial towns.

The money transactions of the Country were carried on by supplies of Coin and Bank notes from London.

The extent of the business of the Country, and the improvement made from time to time in the mode of conducting our increased commercial transactions, founded on pecuniary credit, rendered such a system no longer adequate, and Country banks must have arisen, as in fact they did arise, from the increased wealth and new wants of the Country.

The matter of regret is not, that Country banks have been suffered to exist, but that they have been suffered so long to exist without control or limitation, or without the adoption of provisions calculated to counteract the evils resulting from their improvidence or excess.

It

It would be vain to suppose that we could now, by any act of the Legislature, extinguish the existing Country banks, even if it were desirable; but it may be within our power, gradually at least, to establish a sound system of Banking throughout the Country; and if such a system can be formed, there can be little doubt that it would ultimately extinguish and absorb all that is objectionable and dangerous in the present Banking Establishments.

There appear to be Two modes of attaining this object :

First,—That the Bank of England should establish Branches of its own body in different parts of the Country :

Secondly,—That the Bank of England should give up its exclusive privilege as to the number of partners engaged in Banking, except within a certain distance from the Metropolis.

It has always appeared to us, that it would have been very desirable that the Bank should have tried the first of these plans; that of establishing Branch Banks, upon a limited scale. But we are not insensible to the difficulties which would have attended such an experiment, and we are quite satisfied that it would be impossible for the Bank, under present circumstances, to carry into execution such a system, to the extent necessary for providing for the wants of the Country.

There remains, therefore, only the other plan, the surrender by the Bank of their exclusive privilege, as to the number of partners, beyond a certain distance from the Metropolis.

The effect of such a measure would be the gradual establishment of extensive and respectable Banks in different parts of the Country; some perhaps with charters from the Crown, under certain qualifications, and some without.

Here we have again the advantage of the experience of Scotland.

In England there are said to be between eight and nine hundred Country banks; and it is no exaggeration to suppose, that a great proportion of them have not been conducted with a due attention to those precautions which are necessary for the safety of all Banking establishments, even where their property is most ample. When such Banks stop, their creditors may ultimately be paid the whole of their demands; but the delay and shock to credit may, in the mean time, involve them in the same difficulty, and is always attended with the greatest injury and suffering in the districts where such stoppages occur. If this be the case where the solidity of the Bank is unquestionable, what must it be when (as too often happens) they rest on no solid foundation.

In Scotland there are not more than thirty Banks, and these Banks have stood firm amidst all the convulsions in the money market in England, and amidst all the distresses to which the manufacturing and agricultural interests in Scotland, as well as in England, have occasionally been subject.

Banks of this description must necessarily be conducted upon the general understood and approved principles of Banking.

Individuals are, from the nature of the institutions, precluded from speculating in the manner in which persons engaged in Country, and even in London banks, speculate in England.

If the concerns of the Country could be carried on without any other bank than the Bank of England, there might be some reason for not interfering with their exclusive privilege; but the effect of the law, at present, is to permit every description of Banking, except that which is solid and secure.

Let the Bank of England reflect on the dangers to which it has been recently subject, and let its Directors and Proprietors then say, whether, for their own interest, such an improvement as is suggested in the Banking system, is not desirable and even necessary.

The Bank of England may perhaps propose, as they did upon a former occasion, the extension of the term of their exclusive privilege, as to the Metropolis and its neighbourhood, beyond the year 1833, as the price of this concession.

It would be very much to be regretted that they should require any such condition.

It

4 CORRESPONDENCE WITH THE BANK OF ENGLAND,

It is clear that in point of security they would gain by the concession proposed to them, inasmuch as their own safety is now necessarily endangered by all such convulsions in the Country circulation, as we have lately and formerly witnessed.

In point of profit, would they lose any thing by it, for which they are entitled to demand compensation?

It is notorious, that at the present time their Notes circulate in no part of England beyond the Metropolis and its neighbourhood, except in Lancashire; and perhaps for that district some special provision might be made.

But as it is the interest, so it has been and ever will be the endeavour, of the Country bankers to keep the Bank of England notes out of circulation in those parts of the kingdom where their own circulation prevails. In this they must always be successful, whilst public credit continues in its ordinary state, and the exchanges not unfavourable to this Country. The consequences are, that in such times, the Bank of England becomes in a manner the sole depository for Gold; and in times of an opposite tendency, the sole resort for obtaining it: that at one period their legitimate profit is curtailed by an accumulation of treasure beyond what would be required by a due attention to their own private safety as a Banking establishment; and at another period, they are exposed to demands which endanger that safety, and baffle all the ordinary calculations of foresight and prudence.

If then the Bank of England has no Country circulation, except in the county above named, the only question for them to consider is, whether, on the ground of profit, as well as security to themselves, the existing Country circulation shall or shall not be improved.

With respect to the extension of the term of their exclusive privileges in the Metropolis and its neighbourhood, it is obvious, from what passed before, that Parliament will never agree to it.

Such privileges are out of fashion; and what expectation can the Bank, under present circumstances, entertain, that theirs will be renewed? But there is no reason why the Bank of England should look at this consequence with dismay. They will remain a chartered Corporation for carrying on the business of Banking. In that character they will, we trust, always continue to be the sole Bankers of the State, and with these advantages, so long as they conduct their affairs wisely and prudently, they always must be the great centre of Banking and Circulation.

Theirs is the only establishment at which the Dividends due to the Public Creditor can by law be paid.

It is to be hoped therefore, that the Bank will make no difficulty in giving up their exclusive privileges, in respect to the number of partners engaged in Banking, as to any district miles from the Metropolis.

Should the Bank be disposed to consent to a measure of this nature, in time to enable the Government to announce such a concession at the opening of Parliament, it would afford great facilities to the arrangement which they may have to propose for ensuring the stability of Private Credit, in which the support of Public Credit and the maintenance of Public Prosperity are so materially and closely involved.

N^o 2.

AT a Court of Directors at the Bank, 20th January 1826;

THIS Court having taken into consideration the important Paper received from the First Lord of the Treasury and the Chancellor of the Exchequer, have resolved;—

That, however essentially they may differ on certain views and sentiments therein laid down and expressed, it is not for the Court at the present moment to offer any opinions of their own, the Paper appearing to be intended as declaratory of the grounds on which His Majesty's ministers have come to the determination to require the Bank to give up its exclusive privilege as to the number of partners engaged in Banking, except within a certain distance from the Metropolis.

It

It cannot, however, be considered inconsistent with this forbearance, to state the apprehensions of the Court of Directors, that confidence is not so fully restored as Lord Liverpool and the Chancellor of the Exchequer seem to imagine.

Though the Panic has subsided, Credit, both public and private, remains in a very uncertain and anxious state.

That the Country circulation is in many parts extremely defective, cannot be controverted; and the Bank would very reluctantly oppose itself to any measures tending to ameliorate it, but would be glad to promote that object, either by fresh exertions on their part, should such be found practicable, or by any reasonable sacrifice.

Under the uncertainty in which the Court of Directors find themselves with respect to the details of the plans of Government, and the effect which they may have on the interests of the Bank, this Court cannot feel themselves justified in recommending to their Proprietors to give up the privilege which they now enjoy, sanctioned and confirmed as it is by the solemn Acts of the Legislature.

N^o 3.

THE First Lord of the Treasury and the Chancellor of the Exchequer have duly considered the Answer of the Bank of the 20th instant.

They cannot but regret that the Court of Directors should have declined to recommend to the Court of Proprietors the consideration of the Paper delivered by the First Lord of the Treasury and the Chancellor of the Exchequer, to the Governor and Deputy Governor of the Bank, on the 13th instant.

The Statement contained in that Paper appears to the First Lord of the Treasury and Chancellor of the Exchequer, so full and explicit on all the points to which it relates, that they have nothing further to add, although they would have been, as they still are, ready to answer, as far as possible, any specific questions which might be put, for the purpose of "removing the uncertainty in which the Court of Directors state themselves to be with respect to the details of the Plan suggested in that Paper."

After all, the simple question for the Bank to consider, is, whether they are willing to relinquish their exclusive privilege as to the number of partners engaged in Banking at a certain distance from the Metropolis?

The First Lord of the Treasury and the Chancellor of the Exchequer are satisfied that the profits of the Bank would in no degree be affected by their consenting to such a proposal.

Convinced of this, and that its adoption by the Bank is as important to their own security, as to that of the Public, it does not appear that the Bank can be equitably entitled to claim any compensation for the surrender of this privilege of their charter.

Against any proposition for such compensation the First Lord of the Treasury and Chancellor of the Exchequer formally protest; but if the Bank should be of opinion that this concession should be accompanied with other conditions, and that it ought not to be made without them, it is for the Bank to bring forward such conditions.

Fife House, 23d January 1826.

N^o 4.

AT a Court of Directors at the Bank, 26th January 1826;

THE Governor laid before the Court the following Minute of the Committee of Treasury; viz.

Committee of Treasury, 25th January 1826.

The Committee of Treasury having taken into consideration the Paper received from the First Lord of the Treasury and the Chancellor of the Exchequer, dated

6 CORRESPONDENCE WITH THE BANK OF ENGLAND,

23d January 1826, and finding that His Majesty's Ministers persevere in their desire to propose to restrict immediately the exclusive privilege of the Bank, as to the number of partners engaged in Banking to a certain distance from the Metropolis, and also continue to be of opinion, that Parliament would not consent to renew the privilege at the expiration of the period of their present charter; finding also, that the proposal by the Bank, of establishing Branch Banks, is deemed by His Majesty's Ministers inadequate to the wants of the Country, are of opinion, That it would be desirable for this Corporation to propose, as a basis, the Act of the 6th Geo. 4, c. 42, which states the conditions on which the Bank of Ireland relinquished its exclusive privilege; this Corporation, waiving the question of a prolongation of time, although the Committee cannot agree in the opinion of the First Lord of the Treasury and the Chancellor of the Exchequer, that they are not making a considerable sacrifice, adverting especially to the Bank of Ireland remaining in possession of that privilege five years longer than the Bank of England.

The Act above alluded to contains the following Clauses, sections 4 and 18.

See the annexed Paper, marked A.

6 Geo. 4,
c. 42. § 4.

" Provided always, and be it further Enacted, That nothing in this Act contained shall extend, or be construed to extend, to enable or authorize any such society or copartnership, either by any member or members thereof, or by their agent, or any other person on behalf of such society or copartnership, to pay, issue, or re-issue, at Dublin, or within fifty miles thereof, any bill or note of such society or copartnership, which shall be payable to bearer on demand, or any bank post-bill, nor to draw upon any partner or agent who may be resident in Dublin, or within fifty miles thereof, any bill of exchange which shall be payable on demand, or which shall be for less amount than fifty pounds, nor to borrow, owe, or take up, in England, or in Dublin, or within fifty miles thereof, any sum or sums of money, or any promissory note, or bill of any such society or copartnership, payable on demand, or at any less time than six months from the borrowing thereof, or to make or issue any bill or bills of exchange, or promissory note or notes of such society or copartnership, contrary to the provisions of the said recited Acts of the 21st and 22d years of King George the Third, or of the 1st and 2d of His present Majesty, save as provided by this Act in that behalf."

Ib. c. 42. § 18.

" And be it further Enacted, That execution upon any judgment in any action obtained against any public officer for the time being, of any such society or copartnership, whether as plaintiff or defendant, may be issued against any member or members, for the time being, of such society or copartnership; and that in case any such execution against any member or members, for the time being, of such society or copartnership, shall be ineffectual for obtaining payment and satisfaction of the amount of such judgment, it shall be lawful for the party or parties so having obtained judgment against such public officer for the time being, to issue execution against any person or persons who was or were a member or members of such society or copartnership, at the time when the contract or contracts, or engagement or engagements, on which such judgment may have been obtained, was or were entered into. Provided always, that no such execution as last mentioned shall be issued without leave first granted on motion in open court, by the court in which such judgment shall have been obtained, and which motion shall be made on notice to the person or persons sought to be charged; nor after the expiration of three years next after any such person or persons shall have ceased to be a member or members of such society or copartnership."

Resolved,

THAT the foregoing Recommendation of the Committee of Treasury be agreed to; and that the Governor and Deputy Governor be requested to lay it before the First Lord of the Treasury and the Chancellor of the Exchequer.

N^o 5.

THE First Lord of the Treasury and the Chancellor of the Exchequer have taken into consideration the Paper delivered to them by the Governor and Deputy Governor of the Bank, on the 27th instant.

They think it right to lose no time in expressing their concurrence in the proposition which has been sanctioned by the Court of Directors, as to the exclusive privilege of the Bank of England, and are willing to agree that the two clauses inserted in the Irish Act of last year, and referred to in the Paper communicated by the Governor and Deputy Governor on the 27th instant, shall be inserted in the Bill which will be necessary to give effect to the new arrangement.

The First Lord of the Treasury and the Chancellor of the Exchequer cannot conclude without adverting to that part of the Paper of the Bank, which respects Branches of the Bank of England. In their Paper of the 13th of January, the First Lord of the Treasury and the Chancellor of the Exchequer have stated the Reasons why they are of opinion, that, under all the present circumstances, the establishment of Branches of the Bank of England would not of itself be sufficient to meet all the exigencies of the Country; but they are so far from wishing to discourage the establishment of such Branches, that they are decidedly of opinion, that the formation of them, under proper regulations, would be highly advantageous both to the Bank and to the community.

Fife House, 28th January 1826.

N^o 6.

AT a General Court of the Governor and Company of the Bank of England,
Friday 3d February 1826;

Resolved,

THAT this Court do consent to the Terms proposed to the Bank, in the Papers now read, and do request the Court of Directors to carry the arrangement into effect.

BANK OF ENGLAND.

RETURN to an Order of The Honourable House of Commons,
dated the 3d February 1826;—for

COPIES OF COMMUNICATIONS

Between the First Lord of the Treasury and the Chancellor of the Exchequer, and the Governor and Deputy Governor of the Bank of England; relating to an Alteration in the exclusive Privileges enjoyed by the Bank of England.

Whitehall, Treasury Chambers,
6th February 1826.

BANK OF ENGLAND.

A COPY OF ALL APPLICATIONS

Made by the FIRST LORD of the TREASURY and the CHANCELLOR of the EXCHEQUER, to the Governor and Deputy Governor of THE BANK of ENGLAND, for ADVANCES to Government, authorized by Parliament; from the 5th January 1825 to the 5th January 1826; with, A Copy of the MINUTES of the Court of Directors thereon, and the ANSWER of the said Court thereto.

AT a Court of Directors at the Bank, on Thursday the 9th June 1825;

THE following Letter from Lord Liverpool and the Chancellor of the Exchequer being read;—viz.

“ Gentlemen,

“ Downing-street, 2nd June 1825.

“ THE Holders of 5 per Cent. Stock, created in the year 1797, being entitled, on the 5th July next, to have the said Stock converted into 3 per Cent. Consolidated Annuities, or to be paid off in Money, we have to request that you will inform us, whether the Bank of England will engage to advance such a Sum as may be required for the above purpose, but which cannot be considerable, upon the deposit of Exchequer Bills in their hands, bearing interest at the rate of $1\frac{1}{4}$ d. per cent. per diem, such Exchequer Bills to be charged upon the Aids of the year, and to be either paid off in money or exchanged in the usual course?

“ If the Bank should accede to this Proposition, it is our intention that Exchequer Bills should be deposited, and that the Bank should receive interest upon them according to their actual Advances, which must depend upon the application of the parties.

“ We are, Gentlemen, Your most obedient Servants,

“ LIVERPOOL.

“ FREDERICK JOHN ROBINSON.”

“ To the Governor and Deputy Governor
“ of the Bank of England.”

RESOLVED,

That the foregoing Proposal from Lord Liverpool and the Chancellor of the Exchequer be complied with.

Bank of England,
9th February 1826.
